

Rebuke to Pope Francis

for not knowing the Bible

Pope Francis, you obviously . . .

- do not know the Bible;<sup>1</sup>
- are not a theologian.<sup>2</sup>

“Ignorance of Scripture is ignorance of Christ.”<sup>3</sup>

I. Rigidity

We rebuke you, Pope Francis, because you have harped upon a supposed sin of rigidity, but rigidity is exactly what the Holy Spirit commands, in numerous verses.

“Do not think that I have come to bring peace on earth; I have not come to bring peace, but a sword. For I have come to set a man against his father, and a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law; and a man’s foes will be those of his own household. He who loves father or mother more than me is not worthy of me; and he who loves son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me; and he who does not take his cross and follow me is not worthy of me.”<sup>4</sup>

In all these sentences, the most extreme rigidity is demonstrated, culminating in the rigidity of the cross,<sup>5</sup> which is so rigid as to pass through death.

In view of temporal upheavals, the Holy Spirit commands, “Be rigid as a ‘stake’: Hold fast the doctrines which you were taught, whether by word or letter from us,”<sup>6</sup> elsewhere adding, “Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever; do not be led astray by diverse and strange heresies.”<sup>7</sup> Jesus Christ also, in the Book of Revelation, twice exhorts some of the churches to do nothing, except “Hold fast what you have until I come.”<sup>8</sup>

Indeed, there are numerous metaphors of rigidity in the Bible, including . . .

- the House built upon rock,<sup>9</sup>

<sup>1</sup> This is based upon the numerous un-Biblical misbehaviors and errors both in your leadership; and in Fratelli Tutti, and Amoris Laetitia which your ghost-writer, Abp. Victor Manuel Fernandez authored.

"Pope Francis Names Controversial Bishop to Lead Important Vatican Department," EWTN News Nightly, July 5, 2023, accessed July 11, 2023 at youtube.com/watch?v=GU1UnJULgt4&t=89s .

<sup>2</sup> This is mainly based upon your refusal to respond to the 5 theological “Dubia” of 4 of your Cardinals, presumably out of a praiseworthy abundance of caution; for, any theologically adept Pope, would joyfully fulfill his office, assigned by Jesus himself, to “confirm your brothers in the faith” (Luke 22:32), especially when they are inquiring about his own writings; and your general default focus of preaching messages to action, rather than to faith.

- the vineyard enclosed with a hedge,<sup>10</sup>
- the Narrow Gate and Narrow Way,<sup>11</sup>
- keeping new wine in new wineskins,<sup>12</sup>
- the restrictive net cast into the sea,<sup>13</sup> and
- the Holy Christian Priesthood, as a stone house.<sup>14</sup>

But beyond this, Rigidity is an expression of a father's love, the pre-condition for identity, virtue,<sup>15</sup> and order, among his children. E.g, pursuant to fostering a communal identity, the apostles command rigid . .

- "traditions" in dress (hair-coverings for women);<sup>16</sup>
- regulation of even those with Charismatic gifts, "...for God is not an author of confusion;"<sup>17</sup>
- sub-degrees & behaviors of those ordained;<sup>18</sup> and not ordained;<sup>19</sup>
- suspicion of new spirits.<sup>20</sup>

Here we see that Rigidity is also a characteristic of Order, enabling an entire emergent Community (the Church), replicable on the macroscopic scale. And of course, individuals are called to rigidity, not just against . . .

- Sin; but even mere
- Lawlessness;<sup>21</sup> and even
- slackness in Virtue.<sup>22</sup>

For indeed, our rigidity is based upon childlike "abiding in" "what [we] heard from the beginning"<sup>23</sup> i.e, based upon our glorious "Indietrismo," which is

'foolishness to Freemasons, and a stumbling block to Neo-Marxists.'<sup>24</sup>

Pope Francis, if you can admit to nothing else, at least admit to this: You have been a father of disorder. Haven't you said so, yourself? "I want the confusion."<sup>25</sup>

II. The 7 Churches

We rebuke you, Pope Francis, because you've managed to oppose each and every one of the 7 Churches, in the Book of Revelation. In so doing you have demonstrated that you do not have anything like the true sense of Christianity in this Gospel Age, but disdain for Christians.

To the Church of Ephesus, the Lord commanded them to "recover their first love;" but you have removed the first love of so many of our brothers, those who in the present day-and-age best fulfill the 'type' of the church of Ephesus, which was the one church that contained all 7 candles, all the spiritual perfections of all other churches, today as the Tridentine-Mass-loving Catholics. To these, you have not only encouraged them to forget their first love, but even prohibited their first love,<sup>26</sup> directly against the Will of God, which will be to your public eternal disgrace.<sup>29</sup>

To the Church of Smyrna, the Lord says that they will be thrown into prison, and some will die. What church is this today, except the suffering, persecuted church in China, which you sold to their own persecutors, the Chinese Communist Party, some allege, for a bribe of $2 billion,<sup>27</sup> which, if true, would be the single greatest act—not just of Lay Investiture or Simony—but even of Judas-level, treasonous selling of the Body of Christ,<sup>28</sup> by their shepherd, to their slaughters: Have you never heard the terrifying punishments that God metes out to shepherds who do this?<sup>28,29</sup> It is reported, that by your secret Accord, you have agreed that Chinese youth under age 18 will not even be evangelized!<sup>27,30</sup> As if their souls don't matter; as if Chinese Catholics should behave like teenage-baptizing-Anabaptists! The former primate of China, Cardinal Zen, himself on trial thanks to your Accord, says that the church is being "murdered."<sup>31</sup>

To the Church of Pergamum, a church living next to the megaphone of "Satan's Throne," the Lord praises them for not denying His name. But, while you haven't denied the Lord's name, yet you have effectively done so, denying His words, His gospel of freedom from sin, in your infamous encyclical Fratelli Tutti, where you were so precipitously headlong eager, to cooperate with your allies, the geopolitical authors of the UN's utopian 17 Sustainable Development Goals [SDGs],<sup>32,128,33</sup> that, despite the gospel's distinction between "neighbor" and "brother," you conferred the name of "brother" upon the entire world, as the Freemasons have long wished popes to do, even adopting the French Revolution's motto, "Liberty, Equality, & Fraternity,"<sup>34</sup> thus enabling even them, the Church's greatest enemies, to praise your encyclical.<sup>35</sup> But if that were not enough, you were so blinded and smitten by this utopian endeavor, so ready and willing to hide controversial beliefs, that, in your 51,000 words, . . .

- you entirely ignored Christ's words, except for 3 quotes, in 2 of which you reversed Christ's manifest intent, and in none of which did you preach back to the World;
- there was almost no mention even of sin, much less that fatal flaw, that Achilles' Heel of all utopianisms, namely Original Sin, the failure to account for which, History shows, dooms all governments & utopias, not just to unplanned, punitive Draconianism, but to wholesale capture by careerist liars.<sup>36</sup>

But the moral way,<sup>37</sup> the way of the Church of Pergamum, is to not cooperate, living it as it is next to "Satan's Throne," today's Woke Neo-Marxism, which has fully captured nearly all institutions in—not just Academia, but spectacularly, also—the Media, Corporate, Government, and Educational sectors, as well, as it intended.<sup>38</sup> Surely, there can be no universal fraternity when all is controlled by a united front whose primary means of amassing power is by canceling—tearing down, "dismantling," shaming, and perpetually indebting—all peoples, institutions, identities, even word-concepts, for supposedly past historical transgressions, to make them all beholden to itself, as the sole, impartial referee, judge, score-settler, and identity-giver?<sup>39</sup> Such would indeed be a fraternity of mutually-confessed sin, but without Christ's or the Church's atoning forgiveness, and instead only Herbert Marcuse & Paulo Freire's successors' social credit scores.<sup>40</sup> But you indeed have allied with them, using their jargon, legitimizing

<sup>35</sup> The World Meeting on Human Fraternity's document again conflated a theological "Neighbor," with a "Brother." Additionally, it never once mentioned the names "Jesus," "Christ," or "God." To this extent, it is of the spirit of Antichrist, for (1 John 4:3-4) "Whatever spirit does not confess Jesus Christ is not of God. And this is that of Antichrist." "Declaration on Human Fraternity," Vatican, June 10, 2023, accessed June 28, 2023 at press.vatican.va/content/salastampa/en/info/2023/06/10/230610.html .

<sup>37</sup> Catholic Moral Theology's Principles of the Double Effect, and of Moral Cooperation with Evil call for a person neither to brainstorm sinning with evildoers (Formal Cooperation), nor to directly assist their sins (Direct Cooperation), but to only ally with them when it is proportionately called for, by the threat of a greater impending evil. Thus James 1:27 speaks of keeping oneself "unstained by the world."

their theories, pursuing their utopian goals.<sup>41</sup> The Apostolic salt hasn't just lost its taste, but actually WANTS to be thrown out and trampled!<sup>42</sup>

To the Church of Thyatira, the Lord commanded sexual integrity, and to have nothing to do with "Jezebel," the pagan Queen and 'type' of all those who "queer" people, into learning the "deep things of Satan."<sup>43</sup> But however, you have not just received Jezebel's spokesman, Fr. James Martin, but done so 4 times, praising or honoring him in each case.<sup>44</sup> This same Fr. James Martin is the second most extreme moral heretic, in all of Church History, as only life-killing Catharism/Albigensianism was worse than the 'catch-all' of depravities known as Lgbtq-ism, and that there were not nearly so many Bible verses against that, as there are against this.<sup>45</sup> Never has Fr. James Martin publicly recanted any of this, but has instead gone anti-scriptural:

"Where the Bible mentions [same-sex sexual] behavior at all, it clearly condemns it. I freely grant that. The issue is precisely whether the biblical judgment is correct."<sup>46</sup>

As for the church's practical response, have you never read Eph. 5:3 . . .

"But as for sexual immorality, and all uncleanness or covetousness, let it not even be named among you, as befits holy ones"

. . . which should end all Lgbtq ministries in the church immediately, except those which view it as an illegitimate tendency to be controlled, or perhaps treated.

To the Church of Sardis, the Lord scolds the church for having the name of being 'alive,' but really being dead, and encourages them to remember what they received, and keep that. But which church is utterly, completely dead, even while having the name of being 'alive,' more than the Liberal Church of the Americas, created by . . .

- the innovative, cheapening "Spirit of Vatican II";
- not just barely passable glory-&-praise folk music, but jam-session-druggie-mantra-music, used in Holy Mass;<sup>47</sup>
- the cult of youth, requiring high-cost, vane, feverish frenzies, such as World Youth Day;
- smaller parish-scale versions like LifeTeen, and Vacation Bible School;

Which religion physically bows down, 5 times a day in this prayer, but certainly never to Christians? Which religion is the theological successor to the Jews, a religion of the Flesh, rather than of the Spirit, just like the pharisaical Jews of Christ's time? Yes, Islam. And yet, we have seen Pope Francis do just the opposite, of what Christ does: Christ put an "open door" into Heaven before the Church of Philadelphia, "which none can shut." Here in our day and age, Christ has again put an "open door" in front of Muslims, by means of the technology of the Internet. But you, Pope Francis, have gone and honored—not Christianity, but—Islam, by creating a temple with them (& Jews) in Abu Dhabi,<sup>51</sup> syncretistically twice assuring them that "God wills a multiplicity of religions,"<sup>52,278</sup> while encouraging missionaries to not try to "proselytize" Muslims.<sup>53,54,55</sup> Is there no clearer sign of shutting the door of Heaven to them, than to ecumenically fraternize with their leaders, and leave them to languish in heresy, despite the WIDE "OPEN DOOR" to them, which the Internet has provided? And as for the Christians of the Middle East, who have but little power, yet keep

Christ's word & name<sup>56</sup>, would it not be better for you yourself to behave as they do, accepting having little power, rather than being an ecumenical & geopolitical power-broker, trying to strike ecumenical bargains between God and the exceedingly shrewd modern devils, on the scant chance that you yourself are actually smarter than the Devil, so that the church might derive a net benefit from the deal? This is insane, considering that you yourself acknowledge that devils are far smarter than us.<sup>57</sup>

To the Church of Laodicea, the Lord urges them not to be lukewarm. What papacy has been more lukewarm, more spewing of random blather, than the papacy of . . .

- the 'armchair' "Synod on Synodality," led by the lukewarm, governmentally-bankrolled, German Church of bloated bureaucracy?
- Liberal Progressivism, whose adherents only bother to show up at Mass on Christmas & Easter, and who never even act (much less vote) to sacrifice or restrict any vice or sin, lest it jeopardize their political-or-career-ambitions, their status in society, basically their 'social credit score' ?
- Liberal Progressivism, which aspires to existence within the Post-Christian World's parameters of non-confrontational "kindness;"<sup>58</sup> equality with other religions in the UN, WEF, & WCC; and participation in their joint policies, as if that will save the world.

In all these things, you appear to demonstrate ignorance of, or even opposition to, the true life of the church, its soul, Who is, in fact, none other than God the Holy Spirit.<sup>59</sup>

III. Other Gospels

We rebuke you, Pope Francis, because, like your predecessors, you have been such a friend of the world, which is "enmity with God,"<sup>60</sup> that you haven't just ecumenically welcomed other Gospels, nor just praised & promoted their worst proponents into audiences & offices within the Vatican, but even promoted these false Gospels, yourself, thus rightly deserving to be, in the Bible's words, "accursed" and ignored by us:

"If anyone comes to you and does not bring this gospel, do not receive him into the house or give him any greeting, for whoever greets him shares his wicked work."<sup>61</sup>

We condemn you for promoting the gospels of . . .

Ecology<sup>62</sup> - Against which, the Bible counsels,

"Since the world is to be destroyed by fire, what manner of persons ought you to be? You ought to conduct yourself in holiness and godliness, as you hasten the day of the coming of the Lord."<sup>63</sup>

Eschatology

There are 3 lessons here that you have not learned, Pope Francis:

1. that the destruction of the world is inevitable.<sup>64</sup> Indeed, the 3rd Trumpet, whose name "Wormwood"<sup>65</sup> means "Chernobyl" in Ukrainian, may very well be coming in the next century, in Ukraine, and there is nothing that any human being can do to prevent it. But if anyone is causing it, surely Western nations under NATO share some blame, for repeatedly violating promises to not expand eastward, toward Russia, and for attempting to insinuate their Lgbtq immorality, and Neo-Marxism, into the East.
2. that the Christian is to be focused on the supernatural, not on creating a secular world utopian paradise, as your pontificate has frequently endeavored, through its two greatest encyclicals, through its excessive concern for Amazonian Christianity, and through its Antichrist-like<sup>35</sup> World Meeting on Human Fraternity.<sup>66</sup>
3. that the Christian is to positively hasten the coming of the day of the Lord.<sup>67</sup> Indeed, the prayers of the saints are arguably what cause the pollution/destruction of 1/3 of each of the realms of the world, in each of the 7 Trumpets.<sup>68</sup> This punishment is "righteous," against those who have idolized various elements of creation,<sup>69</sup> destroyed or despoiled it,<sup>70</sup> and dispossessed or killed the rightful owners, the saints.<sup>71</sup>

Pachamama

It is inconceivable to us, that you were so swept up in this false Gospel, that, at the Vatican Gardens Pachamama ritual, you didn't recognize . . .

- The numerous theological censures that the event was violating;
  - Blasphema prout iacent<sup>72</sup> –
    - for even using the Pagan name "Pachamama;"
    - for bowing down to creaturely images, in violation of God's word;<sup>73</sup>
  - Idolaterra prout iacent<sup>72</sup> –
    - for even using the Pagan name "Pachamama;"
    - for using a traditional Buddhist Mandala;
    - for using other items and practices from Paganism;
    - for prostration to something not divine;

<sup>77</sup> Time and again throughout history we see that the deeds of the church determine those of the world, as suggested by Scripture:

- Romans 8:28 – “All things work together for them that love the Lord.”
- Colossians 1:16-18 – “...all things were created through him and for him. He is before all things, and in him all things hold together. He is the head of the body, the church;”
- Romans 9:22-23 – “What if God, desiring to show his wrath and to make known his power, has endured with much patience the vessels of wrath made for destruction, in order to make known the riches of his glory for the vessels of mercy, which he has prepared beforehand for glory,....”
- Isaiah 43:3-4 – “I give Egypt as your ransom, Ethiopia and S[h]eba in exchange for you. . . . I give men in return for you, peoples in exchange for your life.

We also see examples of a king’s sin affecting his people:

you conjectured, a case of “Mother Earth [Pachamama] throwing a fit,”<sup>79</sup> a case of “divine retribution”<sup>80</sup> but perhaps a fit in revulsion, not at pollution, but at being worshiped, within the Vicar of Christ’s own garden.

Neo-Marxism

You have most promoted the above progress-mindset by aligning yourselves with (Frankfurt School) “Woke” Neo-Marxists. Neo-Marxism is not just wrong because it is a form of natural utopianism, but because it is an actual counter-church, proposing . . .

- to save mankind,<sup>81</sup>
- to end history,<sup>82</sup>
- to distribute Revelations,<sup>83</sup>
- to be “prophetic,”<sup>84</sup>
- to be a new revelation, a new Gnostic<sup>85,121,83</sup> second ‘bite’ of the fruit of the Tree of the Knowledge of Good & Evil,<sup>86</sup> which all is directly against the Catholic belief in the “sealing [completion] of prophecy,” as of the death of the last apostle (St. John).<sup>87</sup>

This is diametrically contradictory to a Christocentric mindset. The Bible explicitly says, . . .

- “If anyone adds to the words of this book, God will add to him the plagues described in it.”<sup>88</sup> Indeed, what fruit can be expected from Freirean Neo-Marxism, . . . which proposes to move beyond the old resurrection into a new critically conscious pseudo-“resurrection,”<sup>89</sup> . . . except plagues?
- that “Everyone progressing on, and not remaining in the teaching of Christ, does not have God, but the one remaining in the teaching has both the Father and the Son”<sup>90</sup>;

- that we are to childlike “abide in” “what [we] heard from the beginning;”<sup>91</sup>
- that we are to maintain our backwardness, looking back “to the rock from which [we] were hewn, and the quarry from which [we] were dug, to Abraham . . . and Sarah,” who are “living”<sup>92</sup>;
- that Christ’s death is “the end of history,”<sup>93</sup> that everything after that is merely a protraction, “until the full number of the Gentiles come in,”<sup>94</sup> so that the early persecutions by Rome will return again, in the end, to everyone’s “amazement,”<sup>95</sup> and thus it is true that there is “nothing new under the sun”<sup>96</sup>;
- lastly, it is an axiom of Theology that anything new is alarmingly suspicious,<sup>97</sup> which shows that the Theologian must have a default backward-looking-mindset, not a forward-looking Utopian one.

Neo-Marxist textbook strategy is to find and leverage as many intersectional victimhoods as possible to justify “dismantling” all institutions, identities, and ideas . . . indiscriminately, progressively, . . . and unendingly, without limit,<sup>98</sup> but especially ones that are obstacles to deliberately-planted Neo-Marxist, and/or sexually-promiscuous ‘moles’ & career-bureaucrats (“apparatchiks”) rising through Western hierarchies, in their planned “Long March” through all Western institutions,<sup>99</sup> but especially thru the Church. Now we know, to some extent, that you agree that this is wrong.<sup>100</sup> Nevertheless, by numberless concessions to, or just considerations of their ‘dismantling’/‘deconstructing’ of ancient, but seemingly unrelated institutions, . . .

<sup>101</sup> “Fratelli Tutti,” 121, 124, 129-132, 148. The problem with perforating national borders is that some ideologies deliberately intend to grow their own populations at as fast a rate as possible, with complete disregard for sustainability, either out of wanton hedonism, or as a form of emigratory jihad. National borders were created precisely to prevent jihad. The logical outcome of giving asylum and citizenship to the fastest-reproducing parts of the world, is Ecological Destruction, and either War or World Islamic Conquest. The Bible expressly warns against this (Sirach 16:1): “Do not desire a multitude of useless children,” and (Prov. 29:21) “He who flatters his slave will find him his heir.” However neither of these will happen, for the Bible seems to tell us that Islam will only conquer 1/3 of the world (Rev. 8:7), that is, if Islam is indeed the 1st Trumpet. But what will happen, from inviting Muslims into numerous Western countries, is that God will have to increase the population of other countries, to match and resist them, which will be the very opposite of what is good for the environment. This will end the West, and create future world history to be a battle between the competing populations of the Global South.

  - "In this Compact, there are no "givers" and "takers", but all of us are called to educate ourselves in communion, as the Brazilian [Neo-Marxist] pedagogue Paulo Freire has suggested";<sup>136</sup> and Regarding this last Paulo Freire, the Godfather of Neo-Marxism, he . . .

- gutted education in the Americas;<sup>137</sup>
- co-opted the church to be just another school for brainwashing children into becoming activists, according to his 5-step method;<sup>138</sup>
- blasphemed the mystery of the Resurrection, proposing an alternative Communist parody of it.<sup>89</sup>

In supporting him, you also remind us also of Freire's partner, your ideological father, whom you try to canonize, that "Red Bishop" of Recife, Dom Helder Camara, a man who supported Socialism & Contraception, who went to Geneva expressly to inject Liberation Theology into the WCC (World Council of Churches),<sup>139</sup> and who was also the spiritual father of Communist-but-not-Catholic Klaus Schwab running the WEF (World Economic Forum).

In all these things, you have not rebuked your Neo-Marxist friends, as the Bible says you should,<sup>140</sup> and which is especially your job, as the universal teacher, and therefore "you incur guilt upon yourself."

Feminism

Like your predecessors, you have permitted women to advance in degeneracy, as the Freemasons explicitly intended,<sup>141</sup> all in pursuit of the unsatisfying, illusion of feminist power, both . . .

- seductive, and
- corporate.

This is the most damaging of all false gospels, because it damages every family and parish, in the whole world.

Rights

You've complacently consented to speak of the relationships of women in terms of "rights,"<sup>142</sup> rather than in terms of "needs" and "vocations" to serve and fill those needs. Children need . . .

- fathers;
- mothers in the home;
- peaceful homes;
- a moral sense of . . .
  - role-modeling, virtuous femininity;
  - the opportunity-costs of (not) marrying, rather than being told that "You can have it all: career, children, freedom, psychological happiness, etc.;"
  - the consequences (social, psychological, spiritual) of family-deprioritization-or-failure.

Women need . . .

- to feel needed.<sup>143</sup>

Indeed, the Western, Freemasonic, American over-reaching, over-application of "Rights," to being the operative value regulating all interactions in society, completely usurping the conceptually equal metaphysical categories of . . .

- liberties/license,
- contractual entitlements,
- needs, and
- callings/vocations is a topic all in itself, worthy of its own encyclical. But here, it is sufficient to note, that it is entirely foreign to a Biblical mindset,<sup>144</sup> and a Catholic mindset,<sup>145</sup> which constantly speaks of voluntarily serving, rather than de-serving.

Connection to Socialism

Furthermore, whereas rights originally referred to a quasi-masculine right to act rightly, now they more often refer to a quasi-feminine right to receive benefits, even being applied to completely profane Socialist entitlements, even beyond one's basic needs, to basically a state of indulged, royal childhoodness. This is what most women speak of, today when they say that they want "equal pay:" They want their pay rate to be determined on the basis of their 'royalty'/'nobility'/'citizenship'-status. Whereas warrior-men, or landowning-men, used to rightly be viewed as the only true 'peers,' in society, and thus the only voters, everyone else being viewed as their personal commissions/charges, women also wanted the vote, just as a gratuitous favor, not because they themselves had in any way externally carved the society from nature, nor conquered it on the battlefield, women thus being without the slightest bit of true, authentic, authoritative justification to rule. Indeed, the Bible expressly warns against Socialistically gifting rulership to those not fit to rule (Isaiah 3), which is a parable of the folly and ruin introduced by inverting Social Order, to put endlessly-self-indulging women, or children, over hard-working men:

My people—children are their oppressors, and women rule over them.
O my people, your leaders mislead you, and confuse the course of your paths. . . .

The Lord said:

Because the daughters of Zion are haughty and walk with outstretched necks, glancing wantonly with their eyes,
mincing along as they go, tinkling with their feet; . . .

Your men shall fall by the sword and your mighty men in battle.

And her gates shall lament and mourn;
ravaged, she shall sit upon the ground.

And seven women shall take hold of one man in that day, saying, "We will eat our own bread and wear our own clothes, only let us be called by your name; take away our reproach."

Thus this false gospel of Feminism is also the genesis and driving force of the false Socialist gospel: Indeed, a Socialist state, with its bloated bureaucracy, disproportionately staffed by paper-pushing career-women, is like a giant corporate 'woman,' growing fatter and fatter, the more she takes managerial charge over ordinary life.

Your complicity

Pope Francis, you have encouraged all this. E.g., you've promoted women into very high positions in the Vatican, previously held by clergy, with one even appointing bishops, notwithstanding that Paul says, "I permit no woman to govern a man."<sup>146</sup> You've also called for "identical rights as men;"<sup>147</sup> notwithstanding that you therein contradict yourself by elsewhere saying that,

All other rights having to do with the goods necessary for the integral fulfilment of persons, including that of private property or any other type of property, should – in the words of Saint Paul VI – "in no way hinder [this [communal, i.e. Eminent Domain] right [over property]], but should actively facilitate its implementation".<sup>148</sup>

Clearly, if property is a relative right, then those who have greater ability or need to use it, i.e. physically stronger, breadwinning men, should have more rights than those who don't, i.e. women. Indeed, a man needs a bigger income than a woman, if he is to fulfill his role as breadwinner. To ensure this, God gave man the greater abilities of having . . .

- more physical strength and agility, and
- more negotiating (vocal) strength, than woman, so that she would need him to help raise the children. Indeed, God, through Natural Law, intended that . . .

- men should be centrifugally oriented, outside the home, while
- women should be centripetally oriented, inside the home.<sup>149</sup>

To forbid his employer from paying him more, as the average lucratively-minded employer already wants to do (thanks to a man's greater abilities), incentivizes the destruction of the family: For a woman will be encouraged to . . .

- not 'lock down' her partner in legal marriage, as the principal support against financial ruin;
- value her partner less, thus fostering family strife;
- abandon her simultaneously natural and holy vocation of child-raising, in the home, for a profane, professional career, in the world;
- separate and/or divorce without financial penalty, and often with gross financial reward;
- scandalize other women, who copy their peers as reference-points.

If anything, laws should do the reverse, limiting mothers ability to be formally employed, out of concern for the needs of children!

Immodesty

Additionally, since all humans, but especially men, are lustfully tempted, then like disabled and "challenged" individuals, we all have a need for societal counter-supports, against Concupiscence,<sup>150</sup> in favor of Morality. Dress codes have always served this purpose, even in non-Christian cultures, and therefore, all eyes have a need for sexuality-suppressing dress codes, which will more-so regulate women, whose bodies are the relatively more sexual, pursued objects of "the [hetero]sexual urge."<sup>151</sup> What a scandal it is today, that complete heathens, Muslims, are universally more moral, in a Natural Law sense, than Christian women are. As you import Muslims into Europe, how do you not also see the Will of God, to shame and correct us?

One would think that the Mother of God hadn't just warned us . . .

"Certain fashions will be introduced that will offend our Lord very much. . . . Woe to women lacking in modesty!"<sup>152</sup>

One would think that we didn't have the Word of God revealing that women are to be . . .

- "subordinate" to men, by the Lord's "command";<sup>153</sup>
- below men, as their "head," just as men are below Christ, and Christ is below God;<sup>154</sup>

<sup>149</sup> Prov. 31:10-31. If heathen can speak of "sexual orientation," why can't we speak of "vocational orientation"?

<sup>150</sup> Romans 7:8 \(King James Version\) speaks of "Concupiscence," which theologians speak of as the tyrannizing of the animal senses over what rationality knows is right, and as as 1 of the 3 penalties of Original Sin, replacing instead the Prelapsarian Preternatural gift of [Sensual & Sentimental] Integrity.

- —on the corporate level—the church is a woman, and that, as in a woman's body ordered to the production of new life, subordination does not necessarily imply lower dignity (as it does in a man's body, ordered to the production of mere work), therefore the members of the church should be absolutely unconcerned with 'glass ceilings' or or other such divisions within the body's members (1 Cor. 12:17-19); so also,

- silent in church, as nearly everyone should be;<sup>155</sup>
- veiled,
  - as functionally equivalent to being without prideful hair;<sup>156</sup>
  - as a natural act of humility, in the presence of . . .

      - so that women will be vertically in orderly cooperation with the graces descending down the angelic hierarchy,<sup>161</sup> rather than interfering, by radiating graces from this natural, ‘fleshy’ realm, below, which would be askew or conflictingly oblique to the cascade;
    - their own propensity to passionate social-chatter, as if ordained men, holy angels, and God were not present;<sup>162</sup>

- —on the individual level— by taking upon oneself, the gentle yoke of Christ, one’s Flesh, including one’s gender, descends to “find rest” at its natural level (Matt. 11:29), in approximate mirror-image-symmetry and counter-balance to how one’s spirit arises to be seated with Christ, on high (Eph. 2:6). And therefore, “Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven” (Matt. 5:3); and “the one that is greatest among you must be the servant of all” (Matt. 23:11, 20:26); and “the first shall be last, and the last shall be first” (Matt. 20:16); and “I who am your Lord and Master stoop to become your servant” (John 13:13-16); so that “the honor for all the faithful” is “to reduce to nothing those who were something” (1 Cor. 1:28), indeed to “bind their nobles with chains of iron,” (Ps. 149:8-9), so that he who was set “for the rise and fall of many in Israel” (Luke 2:34), “rejected of men” (Is. 53:3), and who “suffered outside the city” (Heb. 13:12, cf. Rev. 14:20), “may become the firstborn of many [sisters and] brethren” (Rom. 8:29), and so that “she who was barren and did not bear” (or other such disgrace) “may enlarge the place of her tent,” (Is. 54) and perhaps even become mystically identical to that bride, who is the Church, and her mother. <sup>167</sup> Indeed, the whole raison d'être for Middle Eastern veils, which lasts to this day, and which Paul was speaking of, is to hide glory/glamor, rather than to display it, and also to broadcast family-identity, both of which were probably to prevent rape. From there, it had developed a protocol-, and even ritual- status: "The child was instructed upon the use of this veil, when to be raised or lowered in eating or answering questions."

• Anne Catherine Emmerich, p. 158 in "Life of Jesus Christ," trans. Clements Brentano, ed. Carl E. Schmöger, accessed July 13, 2023 at tandfspi.org/ACE\_vol\_01/ACE\_1\_0141\_out.html#ACE\_1\_p0158 .

If traditionalists are angered at being called to use opaque veils, let them be reminded that (1) a perfectly clean conscience, and the resultant unassailable immunity from accusation, are both priceless; and that (2) we should all "be of one mind" (1 Peter 3:8, Phil. 2:2, Acts 4:32), and that "We who are strong ought to bear with the failings of the weak, and not to please ourselves" (Rom. 15:1), and that this is the gift of solidarity that we can give, to the financially poor of the Third World, often with physical qualities not as glamorous as our own; and to the spiritually poor of the Novus Ordo; namely, that if they are willing to offer the greater gift of sharing in our veiling, then we Traditionalists ought to offer them the lesser gift of sharing in their sufferings, by forgoing the translucency which, instead of reducing, actually augments our pride. Then all will be united in the single focus, that "in such harmony, . . . together in one heart and one voice, we may sing together unto the Father. . . ." (Rom. 15:5-6), with the wall of separation abolished from between us (Eph. 2:14).

Nevertheless, the transparency does have admitted benefits: (1) It is reminiscent of the clouds of Heaven; (2) it does seem to complement general liturgical artistic extravagance, such as Gothic architecture or laced-or-embroidered-vestments. Perhaps a good compromise then, would be to permit transparency at important feasts; and of course at weddings (Rev. 19:8), where the bride's linen is theologically described as "bright" (Greek λαμπρόν / "lamprón") obviously promoting glory/glamor, rather than hiding it.

<sup>168</sup> Song of Songs' repeated phrase "my sister, my bride" (4:9, 4:10, 12, and 5:1), conveys that women are actually more attractive to men, in an enduring, healthy, rational, non-concupiscent (Cf. Footnote 150) sense, when they de-emphasize and curtail their incidental, accessory, "surrounding" (1 Cor. 11:15 περιβολαίου) feminine glory/glamor, and limit themselves to just the essential, thereby appearing more like a generic human (incidentally, more like a no-frills boy). For all these accessory protuberances (e.g. streaming hair, clothing, or jewelry; glinting lipstick or skin), while advertised as supposedly "glamorous," really just distract and confuse the male mind's apprehension, frustrating it; and really serve no legitimate purpose, except perhaps to hide uglinesses; but then the man's mind worries that he is being invited to idolize her accessories, being "deceived" (Prov. 31:30) into buying (into)

- the worldwide shoulder-and-cleavage-flaunting bridal-industry, which has been captured and exploited by voluptuously-minded women designers,<sup>169</sup> must be decisively stopped at the church door, . . .
  - because it is sacrilegious to dress like that in church, even for a bride;
  - because the whole industry is so prohibitively expensive as to dissuade marriage;
- women must cease to fill liturgical functions (eucharistic ministers, lectors, altar servers), when men are present, as if . . .
  - Vatican II's "active participation" were something external, and not originally intended to be internal;<sup>170</sup>
  - external participation is a right, or entitlement;
  - the church needs to appease, atone for, or strike any balance between the sexes;
    - as if the sexes are identical in anything, even in dignity;<sup>171</sup>
  - women and girls are more-so in the liturgical image of "ministering" angels, when in fact men and boys are;<sup>172</sup>
  - women, whose voice and nature is designed for child-level play, should cause the parish to seem to be 'playing with,' the Grace of God;
  - liturgy is play;<sup>173</sup>
    - as if the goal of liturgy were immaturity, rather than "to grow into the mature manhood of Christ."<sup>174</sup> something ugly, by the crazy 'clown show' of illusions; but the man's mind finds intellectual peace when it can unhindered focus on just what is essentially her, without even a "wrinkle" getting in the way (Eph. 5:27), and for that, her extreme humility in self-expression is necessary.

<sup>171</sup> 1 Cor. 11:7. Men's and women's dignity is only approximate. On closer inspection examination, differences appear: E.g., Men are more dignified than women, by being more "in the [rational] image and glory of God." Men and women's dignity is only identical, maybe, in those non-gender-specific, Rational aspects which come directly from, and respond directly to, the infinite God.

IV. Abdication of Kingship

We rebuke you, Pope Francis, because you have . . .

operated as the head of a coalition of misfits.

This is not how a King acts, for a king is the head of a united kingdom, of a virtuous people; whereas, you have led like an Emperor, a person who cares merely about achieving and maintaining pragmatic control, 'by hook or by crook,' using any power from anywhere. To this end, you have despised the Curia,<sup>175</sup> promoted the weakest, most pliable and controllable protégés everywhere, regardless of their lack of beliefs or morals. . . .

- Gays – as your pliable, manipulatable, even blackmailable, conscience-less 'Yes'-men;<sup>176</sup>
- Feminists – as your 'do-nothing' Curia-clogging careerists;<sup>104</sup>
- South American Liberation-Theology (Neo-)Marxists – as your thinkers;<sup>177</sup>
- Chi-Coms – as your likely financial donors;<sup>178</sup>
- Modernists, maybe even Freemasons – as your electors, the infamous St. Gallen Mafia;<sup>179</sup>

Indeed, you have perhaps even done all this, because, like all political pawns, you knew that you would never have received a mandate expressly to dismantle (for no Roman-Catholic-loving electors would've voted for that), but that to be elected in the first place, you'd need to assemble a coalition by guile, by promising, to pay back favors, later, on the sly, no matter how destructive for the church's interests & prestige it might be. Like an unscrupulous Capitalist, a hired hand (not like a good Shepherd), you have fleeced your own company, in order to enrich yourself and all these misfits, who are the greatest enemies of everyone devout, humble, and fervent. We most severely warn you to not forget what God does to a shepherd who destroys his own flock.<sup>28,29</sup>

• Dignitatis Humanae 1. Insofar as it was non-dogmatic, Vatican 2 was therefore completely fallible, because infallibility only extends to dogmas (Donum Veritatis 23), which are things found in Divine Revelation, and so, by making itself “non-dogmatic” it also made not just some, but all its documents fallible.

<sup>212</sup> Indeed, what a mercy the Lgbtq movement has been from Almighty God, that he should have used the occasion of our failing to “Bring to the light,” the evil within our own clergy, as the Blessed Virgin Mary at La Salette directly alluded to (and then when we would not listen, perhaps again silently, at Knock, Ireland), not for our condemnation, but as “an even more abounding grace” (Rom. 5:20), for our possible total victory. For when we would not expose and judge our structures of sin, God caused them to come “out of the closet,” and “into the light” (John 3:21), just on their own, so that (1) our clergy and “allied” laity might do the same, exposing themselves now for necessary judgment; and even more sweepingly (2) all Protestants of goodwill not allied with them, might universally come to us, if only our light might’ve shined brightly in their darkness. Is not the structure of history, that the believer must be judged first, so that the unbeliever may be condemned by the very same judgment (Rom. 2:1-4, 9-10, 28-29)? Is this not also the whole premise for the Sacrament of confession, that one shall openly judge oneself, thus preventing other accusers, guilty of the same sin, from alleging, on the final day, that ‘this man’s faith was a fraud’? Why then have we not judged ourselves? But “we did not love the light, but loved darkness” (John 3:19), and therefore even our own flocks left us, in disgust, either over Lgbtq-ism, because their moral sense is perverted (again, owing to the darkness of our lack of preaching); or for hiding child-abusers in darkness, wherein their moral sense is correct. But all hope is not lost. For wherein your sin abounds, Pope Francis, Pope of the “Gay Cabal,” they who reject it shall probably be your judges (Matt. 12:27), and the church’s, and perhaps world’s salvation shall probably come from an African Pope; . . . for . . . in the end . . . her immaculate heart shall triumph.

acted in a manner “proximate to heresy” by never rebuking or judging.

You said,

“The Gospel itself tells us not to judge or condemn (cf. Mt 7:1; Lk 6:37).”<sup>213</sup>

But this is false, indeed a famous Liberal myth, for those 2 verses were from the famous Sermons “On the Mount” and “On the Plain,” a “gospel” not for Christians, but for potential Christians, for Jews and Pagans. Jesus was counseling them, ‘Don’t judge me and my movement, which you don’t yet understand, lest you reject it, and be eternally condemned.’<sup>214</sup> But elsewhere, both Jesus,<sup>215</sup> and the Holy Spirit,<sup>216</sup> and St. Paul<sup>217</sup> make it very clear that Christians are to excel in judging:

“Do you not know that the holy ones will judge the cosmos? And if the cosmos is judged by you all, are you unworthy to judge lesser things? Do you not know that we shall judge angels—no less earthly beings? And if you judge the earthly ones, do you then seat the most despised [earthly men, as judges] within the church? I say this to your shame: Can it be that there is none amongst you wise enough to be able to judge?” (1 Cor. 6:2-5)

Christian should only abstain from judgments of mere, non-sinful annoyances,<sup>218</sup> or unprofitable and imprudent judgments of people already obviously outside the church, anyways.<sup>219</sup>

Pope Francis, who is it that should be “the spiritual man,” “having the mind of Christ,” “able to judge,” those “inside the faith rather than outside of it,” except the one ordained to judge, to be the archetype to which Old Testament kings were foreshadowing, namely the bishop,<sup>220</sup> and most especially, the Bishop of bishops, namely, . . . you yourself?? But we are confident that you know this, because you have often judged us conservatives draconianly;<sup>221</sup> we only wish that you’d do the same for the rich sinners, the flowers of this world, who have every liturgical license to do what they want—Lgbtq masses, pagan rites and liturgical dances, whole factional (Communist Chinese or Jesuit) prelatures—which freedom, we too would like, albeit for good, rather than evil.

“For if a [movement] with gold [bribes<sup>222</sup>] and in fine clothing comes into your assembly, and a poor [movement] in shabby clothing also comes in, and you pay attention to the one which wears the fine clothing and say, ‘Have a seat here, please,’ while you say to the poor [movement], ‘Stand there,’ or, ‘Sit at my feet,’ have you not made distinctions among yourselves, and become judges with evil thoughts?”<sup>223</sup>

<sup>221</sup> It's well-known that Pope Francis has purged the College of Cardinals, and the Curia, and Tridentine mass-networks, but he has also strong-armed vanilla conservatives such as the USCCB, and spectacularly, also, bullied one of the most saintly and honorable bishops in the United States, Bp. Joseph Strickland, merely because he is outspoken in the cause of ecclesial moral integrity.

<sup>222</sup> Cardinal McCarrick was famous for handing out million-dollar bribes. Small wonder then, that you made him the liaison to China, which also does so.

Pope Francis, you have not only “seat[ed] the most despised,” i.e. Biblical Publicans, earthly U.N. bureaucrats, people who often have no respect for our religion, in the judgment-seats of the “Church,” i.e. in the Roman Curia, but you have then gone and added incompetence to this treason, by yourself refusing to judge anyone sinful! For example, you have counseled seminarians never to deny absolution,<sup>224</sup> a counsel which simultaneously suggests both . . .

- that a tyranny of individual conscience . . .
  - should dictate its personal Will;
  - should even tyrannize over well-known, clearly stated, ecclesiastical & even divine laws;<sup>225</sup> and
  - even if disorder, murmuring, or scandal should result;
- that conscience is not in fact something which, under normal, non-contractual circumstances, only negatively forbids, but something which positively absolves oneself! This is not just dangerously subject to biased escapism, but it totally disregards what Conscience actually is, namely, the conclusion of the Judgment of Practical Reason!<sup>226</sup>
- that refusing absolution or other ecclesiastical penalties could have no useful role, in educating & challenging such an uninformed conscience to do better;
- that better informed clergy should check all their superior knowledge at the door, and become mere, unthinking, automated cogs in a machine, like spiritual, doting parents reducing themselves to the intellectual level of a child.

Encouraged the Fruitless<sup>227</sup> ‘Cop-out’ of Situation Ethics:

But your most destructive abdication of authority, in real terms, has been Amoris Laetitia Chapter 8, which has greenlighted moral anarchy, resulting in blessing obstinate sinners everywhere.<sup>228</sup> The original, root problem of this chapter, seems to be that you’ve replaced Faith-based judgment with a gradual, Hegelian-friendly hermeneutic of accompaniment, whereby a person is unthreateningly inducted into right (marital) relationship with God, through a Freirean chain of “lived experiences” and responsive mental “decisions” that will hopefully empattern them into the correct virtues. But this only creates natural faith, not supernatural Faith, and is utterly inadequate, against the real Christian experience . . .

“X is wrong, and this is X,
therefore this is wrong.”

Indeed, your policy would change this syllogism, this moral calculation that is conscience, to read

“X is okay, and
this is X,
therefore this is okay.”

But such a calculation can’t be responsibly made, because there are 3 separate parts of any act, and the standard of okayness is “Bonum ex integra causa, malum quocunque defectu,” namely, that all 3 parts of the Act (Circumstances, Moral Object, and End) must be good, not just the “this” (the Moral Object). Therefore, honest conscience, indeed honest conscientiousness, is always suspicious that there might be some other aspect of the act, usually some unconsidered circumstance, which might render it immoral: Conscience, then, if it does anything, is therefore always taking the safer route, and either forbidding, or asking for endlessly more guidance, and almost never (except in highly, highly morally-trained individuals) confidently absolving. This is why we must “Work out [our] salvation, in fear and trembling” (Phil. 2:12). In conclusion then, what average Consciences are certainly NOT doing, is precisely what your policy is encouraging, namely letting them dictate, to themselves, and (insolently!) to more knowledgeable priests, why they think they should be absolved.

- that “Faith comes from hearing,” i.e., from grace above;<sup>229</sup> not from doing, i.e., in circumstances below;
- that Sanctifying Grace returns, not through “unmerited, unconditional and gratuitous” “mercy and reinstatement” of unrepentant sinners, as you allege<sup>230</sup>, but when the sinner “confesses with his lips [against himself in the Sacrament of Confession] and so is saved [from his sins]”<sup>231</sup>;
- and that to bring this about, the Holy Spirit must convict/rebuke the person’s conscience of their sin,<sup>232</sup> usually thru forceful preaching,<sup>233</sup> of a law,<sup>234</sup> for which the way of gradual, gentle, mercy is in fact the very opposite of what is needed, instead lulling the person into counterfeit peace, in the spiritual sleep of mortal sin;<sup>235</sup>
- so that the Sacrament of Confession is a place for accusing oneself, and decisively separating oneself from the past, not a place for just “new stages of growth”<sup>236</sup>;

Situation-Ethics, because unlike full-blown Situation Ethics, you at least acknowledge the importance of maintaining moral norms, as an ideal, such as “the full ideal of marriage,”<sup>241</sup> rather than disregarding them entirely, as Sartre or Heidegger might. Yet in the final analysis, your words succumb to the standard criticisms of Situation Ethics, namely that it is . . .

- excessively Existentialist,<sup>240</sup> therefore anti-Essential; therefore . . .
  - incoherent,<sup>242</sup> and
  - Antinomian;<sup>240</sup>
  - akin to Nominalist Protestantism, in which Situation Ethics historically arose;
- “rebellious” against God, because its “heart is set on the flesh”;<sup>243</sup>
- fascinated with Sin-Mysticism;<sup>244</sup>
- like Neo-Marxism (which is probably why it is popular to you South American bishops, right now), in that it . . .
  - encourages a dialectical process of repentance (rather than a more Biblical momentous choice<sup>245</sup> to repent), in conformity with Hegelian doctrine about how all things must operate by a dialectical process;
  - atheistically views the world as entirely material, as (Neo-)Marxists did(do), thereby leaving the higher spiritual and rational realms to be nothing but unreal, fantasy “human constructs,”<sup>246</sup> entirely manipulable by rank sophistries, without the slightest respect for truth.

Consequently, the chapter repeats numerous rank untruths:

- Speaking breathlessly of “unmerited, unconditional, and gratuitous mercy,” and saying that “no one can be condemned forever,” as if you are God the lawgiver and final judge, or something. (297)
- Repeatedly taking shelter from having to synthesize universal rules, in the excuse of “complexity.”
- Painting a picture of the inner conscience which, instead of being intellectually knowable, is an utterly mysterious, “Black box,” with no definites.
- Creating an extreme dichotomy between “casting off and reinstating,” as if one of these is some kind of transcendent, idealistic, top value, and the other a “cold,” sinful anti-value.
- All the specious excuses mentioned below.

<sup>244</sup> Sin Mysticism is the largely-false and dangerous literary tradition of extolling sinners who turn out to be great saints, as if sin can create an heroic character. We see it in Evelyn Waugh, Graham Greene, and François Mauriac. See:

- That there should be a “law of gradualness” for people “not in a position to understand, appreciate, or fully carry out the objective demands of the law.”<sup>247</sup> But this is merely a cloak for postponing the true medicine, which is good preaching:
  - “And how are they to hear without a preacher? . . . But they have not all obeyed the gospel; for Isaiah says, ‘Lord, who has believed what he has heard from us?’”<sup>248</sup> Have we Catholics forgotten the enormously effective tactics of great preachers such as St. Alphonsus Ligouri, St. Ignatius of Loyola, even of ‘gentle’ St. Francis Xavier, all of them designed, while observing civil decorum, to increase the pressure on the Conscience to a titanic degree, so as to occasion repentance on the spot?
  - “Walk [to the communion of the church] while you still have the light [to see your separation from God].”<sup>249</sup> Have we Catholics forgotten the hackneyed refrain used by all the preachers over the centuries, “Repent now, for you may not be able to repent later”?
- That a—not “law,” but—hermeneutic of gradualness and integration will be fruitful in the end, when in fact Scripture speaks of such mortally sinning members as, . . .

“ . . . waterless clouds, carried along by winds; . . . wandering stars for whom the nether gloom of darkness has been reserved for ever,”<sup>250</sup>

Is this really the “way of grace and growth,” the “Via Caritatis”<sup>251</sup>? Obviously not! Any such so-called “charity” just proceeds from natural virtue, not supernatural virtue.
- The lie, both to the sinners themselves, and to the rest of the church, that persons who are in fact spiritually “dead,”<sup>252</sup> by commission of a mortal sin against the 6th commandment, “ . . . need to feel not as excommunicated members of the church, . . .” —which they would’ve indeed been before 1977, when excommunications for irregular marriages still existed— “ . . . but instead as living members, . . .” —which they aren’t, at least not in the truest sense of ‘living’ — “ . . . able to live and grow in the church, . . .”<sup>253</sup> —i.e, just like an obstructive, dead gout-deposit ‘grows,’ washed by the body’s lifeblood, but lifelessly impenetrable to it, and meanwhile injuring the rest of the body. Small wonder then, that the Holy Spirit speaks of such individuals as “ . . . blemishes upon your love feasts, as they boldly carouse with you, looking after themselves. . . .”<sup>254</sup> Is this really whom we should be courting? And if that verse is really the opinion of the all-knowing Holy Spirit, as it is, then why would God have suddenly changed His mind, as you allege . . .

“But I sincerely believe that Jesus wants a Church attentive to the goodness which the Holy Spirit sows in the midst of [mortally sinning] human weakness . . .”<sup>255</sup> ??
- Insofar as it encourages a dialectical process of repentance, rather than a more Biblical momentous choice to repent,<sup>245</sup> it wrongly suggests . . .
  - that achieving the objective ideal can be put off for later, with the current feeble, first steps being ordered to a future final repentance :

“Yet conscience can do more than recognize that a given situation does not correspond objectively to the overall demands of the Gospel. It can also recognize with sincerity and honesty what for now is the most generous response which can be given to God, and come to see with a certain moral security that it is what God himself is asking amid the concrete complexity of one’s limits, while yet not fully the objective ideal.”<sup>256</sup>

But Pope John Paul II directly denies this, on 2 counts, first on the existential grounds of urgency . . .

    - “They cannot however look on the law as merely an ideal to be achieved in the future: they must consider it as a command of Christ the Lord to overcome difficulties with constancy. “And and second on the essential grounds of Moral Theology: If the hypothetical future ultimate decision (whether to repent or not repent) is viewed as an act, a Moral Object, then the current first steps to it, right now, clearly belong to that future act’s Circumstances. But then those first steps right now cannot determine its ultimate moral character, as good or evil:

- “If acts are intrinsically evil [such as re-consummating an illegitimate union], a good intention or particular circumstances can diminish their evil, but they cannot remove it. They remain ‘irremediably’ evil acts; per se and in themselves they are not capable of being ordered to God and to the good of the person . . . Consequently, circumstances or intentions can never transform an act intrinsically evil by virtue of its object into an act “subjectively” good or defensible as a choice.”<sup>258</sup>

Therefore, there is no grounds to rejoice in the beginning of repentance, now, when these deeds now might instead be merely the beginning of even worse, more hypocritical-, or just more conscious-and-deliberate- sin.

- “The way of the Church is not to condemn anyone for ever;”<sup>259</sup> against the historical Rite of Excommunication<sup>260</sup> and the numerous powers of excommunication articulated in the Bible.<sup>261</sup>
- “No one can be condemned for ever, for that is not the logic of the gospel;” against the true logic of the gospel which is “He who believes in Him is not condemned; but he who does not believe is condemned already, because he has not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God,”<sup>262</sup> and “He that rejects me, and receives not my words, has the thing that judges him: the word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him on the last day.”<sup>263</sup>
- That the Catechism’s mention of the “mitigating factors” of “ignorance, inadvertence, duress, fear, habit, inordinate attachments, and other psychological or social factors”<sup>264</sup> has anything whatsoever to do with a solemnly and publicly made, sinless vow like marriage, when, in reality, these mitigators only mitigate sudden, unprepared-for (i.e. venial) sins, where either the Rational Intellect, or Rational Will, was not fully engaged in the act; but they are certainly engaged by going through the premediated process of a wedding.
- That the Catechism’s mention of the “mitigating factors” of “affective immaturity, force of acquired habit, conditions of anxiety or other psychological or social factors that lessen or even extenuate moral culpability,”<sup>265</sup> mentioned in a paragraph on self-masturbation, which is not always known to be sinful, has any force whatsoever in regard to a couple’s sexual relationship, which, because it is written upon the heart of man to know that sex is extremely sacred, cannot possibly have any relevance thereto.
- Desperate or cowardly, specious excuses, avoiding the real issues:
  - That a subject could “be in a concrete situation which does not allow him or her to act differently and decide otherwise without further sin.”<sup>266</sup> In fact, one always has the ability to not act, and thereby cease sinning, in this case, merely by living as ‘brother and sister.’

- That it is “reductive” (i.e., a vice) “simply to consider whether or not an individual’s actions correspond to a general law or rule,” i.e., the 6th Commandment, merely “because that is not enough to discern and ensure full fidelity to God.”<sup>267</sup> A classic case of letting perfection be the enemy of the good, and not just any mere good, but the all-important salvific good.
- That divorced and remarried people shouldn’t ask themselves the key question of whether they themselves should live as brother and sister, but instead a myriad of other questions about the secondary consequences to other people.<sup>268</sup>
- That “individual conscience needs to be better incorporated into the Church’s praxis,”<sup>269</sup> when in fact Jesus designed the church so that consciences would learn the Moral Law by having it enforced against them, by bishops whose job it is to rule.<sup>270</sup>

We also find here a disdain for the historical office of penitents. Penitents are people who have repented and been forgiven, but are expiating a crime’s consequences that are too far-reaching for them to be able to undo. The mere acknowledgment of the damage caused is exceedingly salutary for the sinner,<sup>271</sup> and the community. It reestablishes the rights of justice, and reinforces the destructiveness of sin, as well as the lesson that lives, souls in purgatory, and clean consciences, are all worth fighting for, even if it involves significant pain or time.

In the end, Amoris Laetitia Chapter 8 is the most fawning, pathetic, cravenly embarrassed and apologetic, self-excusing, pretense of shepherding that the Holy See has probably ever produced. Gone are the decisive, sweeping categorizations of Pope John Paul II. Gone even is coherent train-of-thought. It uses the emotional, amorphous, helicopter-parenting aegis of “pastoralness,” a veritable “wind of doctrine proposed by human deceit” (Eph 4:14), as the most insipid, pretentious, pseudo-managerial ‘cloak’ for . . .

- crunching universal moral norms, exception by exception, down into granular triviality;
- assisting sinners to create their own loopholes and write their own Law of God;
- debilitating pastors by training them to operate on the level of whimsical, utilitarian ideals, rather than concrete negative rules, thereby setting them up for nothing except . . .
  - the ugly hypocrisy of being an un-equitable acceptor of persons;
  - the reactive, rather than proactive rationalization of violations;
  - vain hope of repentance; and
  - the ultimate disgrace of integrating enormous scandals into the church.

It was obviously written by a spineless person pretending to be a pastor, attempting to sound like the psychological master who was Pope John Paul II, and succeeds at nothing except perhaps in telegraphing this entire papacy’s Modus Operandi, thus explaining why it is as catastrophic as it is. It leaves behind nothing but the greatest sadness, at so sudden and great a fall into oblivion. Small wonder then, that four of your Cardinals immediately issued 5 “Dubia” to it, basically accusing it of being “sapiens hæresim,” smacking of heresy.’

V. Exorcism.

Pope Francis, do you reject Satan, and all his works? In particular, do you reject . . .

- Lgbtq-ism,<sup>274</sup> and even any ecclesial “tolerance” of it?<sup>275</sup>
- Modernism?<sup>276</sup>
- Dialectic Hegelianism?
- Naturalist Religion?
- Freemasonry?
- All earthly Paradises and Utopianisms?
- Liberalism & Americanism?<sup>277,276</sup>
- Marxism & Neo-Marxism, especially those of Critical Theory, Paulo Freire, & Herbert Marcuse?
- Syncretism, such as the belief that God antecedently wills a “diversity of religions,” or that Christ & Christianity are just the “privileged way,” but not the only way to the Father?<sup>278</sup>
- All Paganisms, including New Age, Hinduism, Incan Pachamama-ism, and “Earth Spirituality”<sup>279</sup>?
- All objects connected with the above worship, including mandalas, stangs,<sup>280</sup> and idols?
- Situation Ethics, and all such simplistic cop-outs from traditional Catholic Moral Theology?
- the refusal to “come to the light,” and to “expose” sins hidden in darkness?<sup>281</sup>

Are you willing to confess Jesus Christ, before men, . . .
